Searching for God

Week 7: 'Family Matters Pt. 2'

"God the Father has expectations for his children."

1 Corinthians 3:10-11

Because of God's grace to me, I have laid the foundation like an expert builder. Now others are building on it. But whoever is building on this foundation must be very careful. 11 For no one can lay any foundation other than the one we already have—Jesus Christ. NLT

As a Father, I have expectations for my children. There aren't a myriad of rules to follow; generally speaking, if they treat others well and respect me and their mother, they'll get along okay. Jesus says the whole of the law and the prophets can be summed up in two commands - love God, and love others. Do those two things, and you're generally behaving the way he wants you to.

People get confused thinking that the Bible is a book of rules that Christians are expected to follow. While there are some instructional guidelines and such, it's more accurate to say that the Bible tells Christians what their Heavenly Father expects of them. If he is our father (as we discussed last week at New Heights), then it makes sense that that father would have expectations for his children, and this week, we'll talk about what those expectations are.

Sounds exciting, right? Keep in mind that Christianity is less about a religion centered around Jesus, full of rules and regulations, and more accurately described as a relationship we enjoy with him.

We'll talk more this weekend, hope to see you then!
