Matthew 25:40

“The King will reply, ‘Truly I tell you, whatever you did for one of the least of these brothers and sisters of mine, you did for me.’ NIV

Have you ever done something for someone, something that you didn’t think was a very big deal, but they remembered that you did it for them, and they treasure that memory in their heart for many years to come? The story that we’ll be covering today in Luke 7 finds Jesus being blessed to be anointed by a sinful woman. It was a kind gesture, but it means more to Jesus than most around him could conceive. The woman herself likely didn’t know that it meant as much to him, as Jesus’ death and eventual resurrection was a mystery to his followers at this point, but when the woman anointed him, suffice to say that Jesus was blessed. He is similarly blessed when we do even small things for humble people. We may not always realize we’re doing it, but then again, life lived with Jesus might just see us doing things for people so often, that we don’t even keep track of it, but the world is keeping track, and it sees us being kind. More than that, so does Jesus himself, and he’s prepared to reward those who bless others. We’ll chat more this week.
