Philippians 2:3

"Don't be selfish; don't try to impress others. Be humble, thinking of others as better than yourselves." NLT

Let's face it - we live in a world that doesn't always know how to get along. That can be upsetting, distracting, and even disheartening; especially when we are the victims of someone who doesn't get us. But Jesus' life and ministry - his teachings, as well - illustrate that life works best when we remember that we're different, and, rather than try to separate from those we don't see eye to eye with, we ought to love them despite our differences. After all, if the world were filled with people who were just like me, what a boring place it would be. I'm glad and grateful that we're all different, but I'll be honest, sometimes those differences are harder to tolerate than others. But that doesn't mean we shouldn't love the people who exhibit those differences, whether they're different ideas, different philosophies, or more arbitrary differences.

God created a wonderfully diverse world and filled it with different people. What can we learn from each other? What can we teach each other? What is God going to do through your life and ministry differently than mine? Maybe it's time we find out! We'll chat a little more about this weekend. See you at New Heights!

Sermon in a Sentence

"To _____ as Jesus _____ is to _____ others the way he _____ them."

Today's Scripture

Luke 10:29-38

Colossians 4:5-6

It's All Greek to Me!
"plesion" - to be in one's close proximity

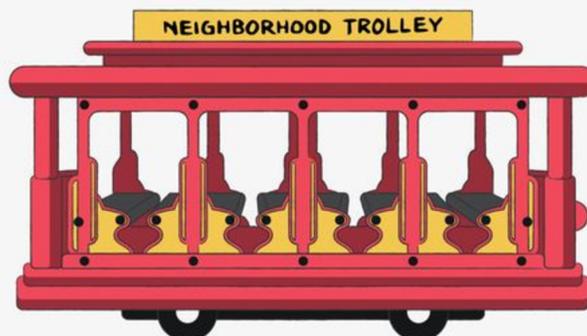

Something Worth Quoting

"Love isn't a state of perfect caring. It is an active noun like struggle. To love someone is to strive to accept that person exactly the way he or she is."

-Mr. Fred Rogers
